About me

Hi! I'm Tori and I am a full-time travel blogger and content creator. Tori Pines Travels is a blog that helps nine-to-fivers create action-packed and culture rich vacations while making the most of their limited vacation time. I focus mainly on the Southern states and Italy with a large focus on weekend getaways, food, wine and the outdoors.

About my readers

I have an engaged group of followers who look to me for vacation advice. They are often trying to get inspiration for weekend and holiday travel within the US. They are primarily females living in the United States. I have an active Facebook Group and email list.
